

A close-up photograph of a white ceramic bowl filled with fluffy white rice. Two sunny-side-up eggs are placed on top of the rice, with their bright orange yolks prominently displayed. The bowl has a subtle floral pattern. In the background, other dishes and a dark container are partially visible, suggesting a meal setting.

A close-up shot of a person's hand cracking a hard-boiled egg over a bowl. The egg is being held by the fingers, and a stream of clear egg white is falling into the bowl below. The bowl contains a light-colored liquid, possibly soup or a sauce. In the background, there are various dishes on a table, including what looks like fried food and small bowls of condiments. The setting appears to be a restaurant or a dining area with large windows in the background.
