

[illegible]

A screenshot of a Rakuten mobile application interface. The top navigation bar is white with a blue '10' on the left and a 'Bluetooth' status indicator on the right. Below the bar is a search bar containing the text '2021 iPhone Android'. To the left of the search bar, there is a small red 'X' icon inside a square. The bottom section of the screen features a large red 'Rakuten' logo with a red underline, and below it, a red rectangular button with white text. The background of the app is white.

|                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  G-SHOCK 正規 7年延長保証 |  □□□□□□□□48□□□□□□1500□OFF□□□□□□□□□□GSW-H1000-1JR G-SHOCK □□□□ G-SQUAD PRO □□□□□□□□ □□□□□□ □□□□□□ □ □□ □□□ □□□ □□□ GPS □□□ □□□ □□□ □2021 □□□           □□□79200□□□□□□□□□□) (2021/11/22□□) Rakuten   |
|                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |